

ERICSSON GLOBAL SERVICE DELIVERY CENTER

The Ericsson Global Service Delivery Center provides technology services to telecom providers. During the first stage of the project, 100 job opportunities in engineering and technology, as well as in management, were created. Today, the Center, which employs a total of 221 people, hopes to attract other companies providing similar services, thus contribute to boosting the competitiveness of Lebanon in the area of technology and telecommunications.

It applied to IDAL in 2007.

The project spans on a built up area of 3,080 sqm.
